

Join The Careful Drivers' "Club"!

If you are a careful and fortunate driver, you can obtain from us, and from us alone, a special collision insurance policy, covering damage to YOUR OWN car by collision or upset, at a VERY LOW SPECIAL RATE OFFERED BY NO OTHER COMPANY, on a special policy form.

You NEED collision insurance. You can't depend upon the other fellow's insurance, because (1) he may not have it; and (2) he may not be legally liable; and (3) he may hit in the night and escape unknown; and (4) he may be judgment-proof; and (5) there may be no other fellow at all, as your car may be wrecked by an upset, wheel coming off, steering gear going wrong, etc. The only form of protection that covers this hazard is collision insurance. Why take the big chance of having your car wrecked by some careless, reckless or drunken driver?

Since we sell this special form of collision insurance only to those who carry their liability insurance with our office, it will pay you to inquire now. Over 85% of our liability clients carry our special collision policy. Only about 12% of the liability clients of other companies carry collision insurance. The reason is that our special coverage and special rates are attractive!

A MAINE BOY

Col. Fred W. Fleming, Insurance Head and Banker, Has Won Fame In West.

In attendance upon Legislature recently E. C. Moran, Sr., and E. C. Moran, Jr., State agents for the Central Surety & Insurance Corporation, learned the interesting fact that the president of that corporation, Fred W. Fleming, is a former Maine boy.

Born on a potato farm up back of Houlton, he must have imbibed unusual strength of mind from those sturdy acres, for he has heaved his way into the millionaire class, and is today one of the acknowledged leaders in the insurance world and in that world of finance which revolves around Kansas City. And likewise he must have developed a strength of body, for he was with Teddy Roosevelt at San Juan and the rank of colonel which he wears is no mere newspaper title. It was richly earned in those fields where men are men, and where their spurs are won by deeds of valor.

Col. Fleming is a graduate of a Maine institution, Higgins Classical Institute, and during the entire course was a classmate and roommate of ex-Senator P. H. Gillin of Bangor, with whom the Morans were associated in the legislative hearings.

Col. Fleming left Maine 40 years ago. Since that time he has twice been president of a Federal Reserve Bank and as receiver of the Kansas City Railways Company brought about wonderful results.

Since taking the State Agency for Col. Fleming's company the Morans have established 77 branch offices and have quite amazed the home office by the large business they have developed.

REVENGE DEFERRED

Donald McRae Makes An Unwise Crack and Gets 90 Days.

Donald McRae of Washington, Penn., will think twice before he makes any more threats in the presence of Judge Frank R. Miller.

McRae came here as a salesman for a steam cooker and was brought to the attention of the police by a transaction which had failed to suit a customer. He agreed to leave town, but failed to do so and was finally arrested for being idle and disorderly. S. E. Waterman, who represents the company which handles the steam cookers, appeared in the role of complainant.

The sentence was 30 days in jail. "If I ever get him down in Connecticut I will get even with him," said Judge Miller, pointing to Waterman.

"What do you mean you would do?" asked Judge Miller.

"I would beat him up," was the reply.

"That being the case I guess I will defer your revenge a bit," said Judge Miller, and he caused a new mittimus to be issued, which fixed the sentence at 90 days instead of 30.

WASHBURN'S WASHINGTON WEEKLY

By R. M. Washburn

On Friday evening, last, came the Borah-Butler debate before the Roosevelt Club. It is a great temptation, even to one of mastery tact and self-control, to write unreservedly of this epochal debate. Nevertheless the amenities of the hour must be respected. These distinguished disputants were both the guests of a club of which "have the honor to be one of its directors. It would be a hardy lapse, hence, for me to distinguish between these two men, in the relative excellence of their performances. Perhaps I may, however, in the intimate confidence of a weekly spread Weekly, devote safely from this general rule of propriety.

Mr. Borah seemed to me to have shown himself clearly the superior of the two, not only in substance but also in form. In power and agility he was also the master. This honesty of expression on my part will impress, because of what ought perhaps to be my own impartiality. And yet a good deal may be said for Dr. Butler. He also showed himself to be clearly the superior of the two, not only in substance but also in form. In power and agility he was also the master. This contrast of these two men is clearly honest and an analysis may be made, perhaps, in this way, by their official host without impropriety.

And now to depart. Not long since, surely as an unmarried woman would speak of her first natal day, I chanced to meet Julian Codman in Dupont Circle. We stood and talked. We did not sit upon benches for that would not have been in good form. Strange, the illogic of conventional propriety. A man may sit in a small room with a lady. He can light a pipe, after closing the windows. Even then the social adept can take no exception. But let him, when walking on the street with that same lady, light a cigar, and he is clearly out of social step.

Some say Lieut.-Col. Codman. In a plethora of titles throughout the country, I prefer, for this or any other gentleman, the scarce and more distinctive title of "Mister." It is beyond the province of this Weekly to search the title. Lieutenant-Colonel, of Mr. Codman. Certainly no reflection is here made upon his justification, in a day when many of these titles have been more fought for and won in the culinary conquests of the banquet-table than on galling-swept plains, and more in reviewing stands than in the trenches. It is a fact, however, if all who appear clothed in this way were as much entitled to this recognition as Mr. Codman, that there would be fewer masquerades about. So Mr. Codman and I stood and talked. He was on his way to sup with Paulina and so I did not venture to delay him long.

Mr. Codman had been sitting in with the Senate sub-committee of five on booze at its public hearings. Of these Senator James Reed was the only one who stood in the line of the wet. Julian then wisely observed, that Reed was the intellectual quality of the committee, if not its quantity. Here he was absolutely right. Some may not know that Mr. Codman is also a "wet." If so, they must have been in very close confinement. I have heard Mr. Codman in action on this theme and am not in action in this respect. I liked his style though I do not digest all his

Seated—L. C. Sturtevant, coach; Maud Keizer, captain, et.

The monopoly which the boys of Thomaston High School have exercised in furnishing cups and pennants for the gallery of the new gymnasium was broken this season when the girls' basketball team won the championship of the Knox and Lincoln League. The boys were forced into third position in their section of the league, but were so proud of the girls' accomplishment that their own standing was forgotten.

It didn't look like a championship team when Coach L. C. Sturtevant surveyed the squad which came out for practice last season, as all of the players were "rookies" except the two forwards.

While the honors have naturally gone to these two players, Miss Barry and Miss Keizer, the excellent team work has been credited with bringing home the cup. Miss Keizer as a matter of fact was one of the best goal getters on any team in the league, but were so proud of the girls' accomplishment that their own standing was forgotten.

There is an atmosphere of impending calamity about this man, and there are few in the Senate who so stir study, as when a beetle is imbedded on a pin. No spring robin chirps on the sill of his office window, that is wittingly. He speeds further South, as though he had unduly diagnosed the breaking spring, or he hops along toward the window of the staccato stepping Moses. I have been told by men who have sat in conference with Reed all day, that it is business, from the time of a sad "Good Morning" until sunset. He orders his motor by telephone with a touch of drama, as Booth would smother Desdemona. And yet one who courageously and patiently probes beneath his epidemic finds a heart which knows no eight hour law and that first virtue of a politician, if not a layman, loyalty and the obligation of reciprocity. On his ledger there are no unbalanced open accounts with either foe or friend. There are no discounts, asked, given or taken.

In his speaking style on the floor of the Senate there is a great show of gasoline. His car never runs up to a Socony station. He has a touch of the justified style and pride of the peacock. There is a plenty of substance. But he is tremendously handicapped by his violence. No man in the country could he study to more advantage than Charles Francis Choate, Jr., who is conceded by even his most ardent critics to be the first lawyer of Southboro in Massachusetts. Success leaves in its wake a flying squadron of gulls, symbols of criticism. To interfere with no one is named by Freshmen. The only player who will be lost by graduation is Miss Keizer, the captain, who has made a splendid record in the several seasons that she played on the team. The sextette was managed by Miss Barry.

Thomaston High School won every game it played in the League, its only defeat being at the hands of Rockland High School, which is a contender for State Championship honors.

The schedule resulted thus:
Thomaston H. S. 7, Rockland H. S. 14.
Thomaston H. S. 13, Rockland H. S. 25.
Thomaston H. S. 38, Lincoln Academy 8.
Thomaston H. S. 24, Lincoln Academy 20.
Thomaston H. S. 19, Rockland H. S. 31.
Thomaston H. S. 26, Camden H. S. 21.
Thomaston H. S. 26, Camden H. S. 14.

too often the price of popularity. Mr. Choate has self-control. Mr. Reed has not. Mr. Reed is so much of an adept as a vivisector that the hearts of those who look on go out to his patient and Reed suffers from the back-wash. It's the calm conversational style which most appeals to a jury, whether in a court room or in a legislative body, the force of reserve. That Mr. Choate has, that Mr. Reed has not. And yet Mr. Reed is one of the few great men in the Senate. He is a plant, strangely, which seems to flourish independent of the sunshine.

More on Reed as a speaker. There is no clearer, more clean-cut, concise mind in the Senate. He asks a question which drives right at the vitals of his victim. In lamenting one day on the floor of the Senate the mania for legislation he said: "A Jay-bird swallows a grub worm in Kansas and swallows it in Missouri and some one asks for an amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act." One of the most accomplished of the Washington Journalistic students says of him: "The best campaign speaker I have heard on the hustings is Reed. Have you ever heard him addressing his Missouri constituents? He has a better and more flexible range of voice than Borah or Johnson, also exceeds in gesture. He has more humor than either of them." Here I might interpolate that he might have this terpolate that he might have this and yet break few records. "He has more deliberate art in the marshalling and accumulating of argument. And as for courage he was never excelled by man, angel or devil. I am fonder of Johnson but I must say that as a dramatic critic of politics I give the palm for popular platform performance to Jim Reed." And this is by a man who knows. It's much.

WAS NOT OPPOSED

Rawley Bill Relative To Enforcing Truck Regulations Has Hearing.

The act conferring authority upon municipal officers and road commissioners to enforce the laws and rules and regulations relating to trucks upon the highways, was accorded hearing by the ways and bridges committee Friday afternoon. The measure was not opposed.

Tenant's Harbor, who introduced the bill, spoke in its behalf, pointing out that unless any town passes a special ordinance, the only ones who can enforce the truck rules and regulations are the State Highway Commission, the State Highway Police or their agents. He declared that the towns are ordinarily very slack about enforcing the ordinances and that if a road commissioner sees a heavy truck on the highway at times when such trucking is prohibited, he should have authority to enforce the law or regulation.

The town of St. George, he said, expends $350 every year, in addition to its regular road money, just to smooth up 11 miles of highway where there has been heavy trucking in the spring of the year.

The bill has the approval of the three members of the State Highway Commission as well as Chief Engineer Paul D. Sargent. Representative Rawley asserted, adding that Philip J. Deering of Portland, former member of the State Highway Commission, had expressed his opinion that this measure would be the best piece of legislation there could be for the protection of the roads.

THE APRIL TERM

Criminal Docket Has Been Reached In Knox County Supreme Court.

The criminal docket was taken up this morning and may last until Thursday. The case scheduled for trial this morning was State against Arthur H. Smalley who has been indicted for felonious assault on a girl under 14 years of age.

A verdict of $2492 was returned yesterday afternoon in the case of Mrs. Blanche Ayer of Thomaston vs. Nettie R. Mason and Maria O. Bryant. The case concerned the care of Mrs. Amelia Robinson, mother of the parties to the suit. Mrs. Ayer claiming that she had been promised $10 a week by the sisters for the plaintiff that duty. Mrs. Robinson had lived with Mrs. Ayer for 11 years, but the trade which she claims to have been made did not become effective until 1918. The original suit asked for $3600, but it was subsequently amended to $2600. The defense was a general denial that such trade existed. Campbell for plaintiff; Bird for defendants.

The case of Lettie Lewis vs. David Bowie which was on trial when this paper went to press Saturday, resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $700. The amount of damages claimed was $2000. Emery for plaintiff; McCarty for defendant.

A WARSHIP HERE

Destroyer Childs Having Trial Today—Big Ships Coming.

It looked like old times yesterday when a warship arrived here for trial, and members of the Trial Board assembled at the Thorndike Hotel.

The ship is the torpedo boat destroyer Childs, which will be given two standardization trials of two days each to determine the relative merits of the standard propeller used in the Navy and the Anti-Cav. designed by Rear Admiral D. W. Taylor. The object of two trials with each propeller is to see what the result will be at light draft and heavy draft. The Childs, by the way, is commanded by Lieut. Commander J. H. S. Dessez, a former recorder of the Trial Board.

The naval tug Wandank is serving as tender, and towed here an oil barge containing 80,000 gallons of fuel oil. Three modernized dreadnaughts will come along soon for trial, the Florida, May 17, the Arkansas in June and the Texas July 6.

The members of the Trial Board now here are: Capt. I. E. Bass, Commander A. W. Brown, Lt. Commander R. O. Glover, Charles A. Ford and A. K. Moore.

LAST DOLL WON

"Miss Rockland" Entered By B. P. W. of This City Gets Belfast Prize.

This "Miss Rockland" is one of the dolls sent to the Belfast B. P. W. Club bazaar from the other Business and Professional Women's Clubs of the State each dressed to represent a modern business woman. The dolls sent were on exhibition at the bazaar in the afternoon, after which five judges, non-club members, chose the most representative and attractive miniature business woman.

Miss Rockland by winning this title will be taken to the State Federation convention in Skowhegan next month and presented to Miss Margaret Chase the State president where she will be re-christened "Miss Maine" and taken by her to Oakland, Calif., to the National convention in July as her mascot.

Miss Rockland's underlies were made by Emily W. Stevens, suit and blouse by Mrs. Fred J. Overlock and hat by Miss Stella Comery. The judges were Mayor Foster Small, Clement Wescott, Mrs. Irving Dinsmore, Mrs. Edgar Hall and Miss Belle Keating, all of Belfast.

Other dolls competing were Miss Portland, Miss Augusta, Miss Waterville, Miss Bangor, Miss Sanford, Miss Rumford and Miss Houlton.

At the Saturday afternoon fire in the old Farnsworth building adjoining Crockett block the operating head of the hydrant at the corner of Warren and Main streets was wrecked off and the hydrant wrecked. At 9 o'clock Sunday morning the installation of a new hydrant was completed by the efficient Water Company crew. Supt. MacAlary is contemplating the replacement of several of the old fashioned Main street fire plugs with the handsome Darling type hydrants.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

COUNSEL

If thou shouldst bid thy friend farewell,
But for one night though that farewell may be,
Press thou his hand in thine; thou canst not tell
How far from thee

Fate or caprice may lead his feet
Ere that tomorrow come. Men have been known
Lightly to turn the corner of a street,
And days have grown

To months, and months to lagging years,
Before they look on loving eyes again.
Parting, at best, is underlaid with tears.
With tears and pain,

Therefore, lest sudden death should come between,
Or time, or distance, clasp with pressure true
The palm of him who goeth forth; unseen,
Fate giveth too!

Yea, find thou always time to say
Some earnest word betwixt the idle talk.
Lest with thee henceforth ever, night and day,
Regret should walk.

THREE TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, April 12, 1927.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is Pressman in the office of The Courier-Gazette and that of the issue of this paper of April 9, 1927 there was printed a total of 6480 copies.
Before me, FRANK D. MILLER, Notary Public.

The Lord was my stay: He brought me forth also into a large place; he delivereth me, because he delighted in me. Psalm 18:18, 19.

Rome was not built in a day, according to the old saw, and the two-million dollar cement plant on the Thomaston road will likewise not be a creation of the magician's art. If there are any persons disappointed because the site of the proposed industry is not already peopled with workmen, thick as ants, they should bear in mind that only a comparatively short time has elapsed since the Lawrence people took over this property and that a vast amount of preliminary work is necessary before the labor begins to bear visible fruit. The fifty men now comprising the construction crew represents only a small proportion of the force which will be occupied there by midsummer. Preparations are under way for the building of the necessary trackage, nearly two-score carloads of lumber are on the way, and a vast amount of equipment and machinery. While many persons were still giving voice to skepticism a great deal was being done on the quiet. The Lawrence Portland Cement Company may be likened to the big modern circuses in one respect—it is giving quality rather than a street parade.

The Harriman standard time act becomes a law within a few months, and the wishes of many thousands of persons in the cities and larger towns are relegated to the scrap heap. To read some of the statements one would think that Portland alone was in favor of daylight saving, but this is far from the case for there are other Maine cities. Rockland included, which believed that the one way of getting the best out of life during the three months of summer is to get up somewhere near when the sun does, and to have some portion of daylight for the recreation period. The daylight advocates accept the inevitable, but would do it a bit more gracefully if they were not fully aware that break time has existed, and will continue to exist, in so many of the rural communities. Will Mr. Harriman's clock read actual standard time, or will it be half or three-quarters of an hour faster?

Last year a net revenue of $187,000,000 was yielded by gasoline taxes. The rates ranged from one to five cents per gallon, the average being 2.38 cents. In Kentucky the rate was increased from three to five cents, in Mississippi from three to four cents, in North Dakota from one to two cents, and in Virginia from three to four and one-half cents. Other increases which became effective after the close of the year were an increase in Alabama from two to four cents, and in Montana from two to three cents.

In darkest Chicago Saturday 15 masked and armed men held up four employees of the Elgin Watch Case Co., ransacked safes and decamped with about $100,000 in gold. The raid was made to the accompaniment of revolvers, rifles and machine guns—the prevailing jewelry of the Illinois metropolis. There is, of course, one consolation. The newly elected mayor has promised to rid the disgraced city of thugs and crooks within three months after he takes office.

Unofficial judges gave the palm to the Idaho Senator in the prohibition debate between President Butler and Senator Borah. It is not expected that the question will be fully settled in the time of any person now living, but Presidential year, on whose threshold we now stand, will see lots of oratory on the subject.

A compromise agreement has been reached whereby Rogers Hornsby the ex-St. Louis ball player is to receive $116,700 for the stock he holds in his former club. As Mr. Dean would say, "It's a hard struggle."

One year ago today the thermometer registered only 12 degrees above zero. Wind strong from the northwest.

THE CEMENT PLANT

Getting Ready For the Big Drive—New Manager Succeeds Mr. Phillips.

Thirty-two carloads of lumber for the Lawrence Portland Cement Company's new plant in Thomaston are due to arrive this week, and many carloads of equipment are on the way. Among the equipment already received is a steam shovel and a well drill.

Fifty men are now working on the construction end of the work and within a fortnight it is expected that day and night operations will be in progress. Joseph Taylor, the superintendent of construction, has been joined by his assistant, Oscar Holmberg, who comes from New York and the big drive is fairly under way.

The grading is being done for the new tracks. The first building to go up will be the office, but the machine shop will be the first one completed. Meantime the new ground line plant is approaching completion, and will probably be in operation next Monday. The tank is being made by the L. L. Snow Co.

This plant will have a capacity for manufacturing 25 tons of ground line an hour. This material will be used for first coats of plastering, instead of lump lime.

THE ELKS INSTALLATION

Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E., installed officers last night and conferred the degree upon Cant. Frank Green of this city. The officers for 1927-28 are: Exalted ruler, Harold J. Philbrook; esteemed leading knight, A. C. Jones; esteemed loyal knight, A. P. Levy; esteemed lecturer, Knight, F. P. Newcombe; secretary, W. E. Spear; treasurer, J. N. Southard; tiler, F. J. Smallwood; trustee, Dr. F. E. Pollett. The installing officers were Everett Davis as Grand Exalted ruler and George Bachelder as Grand Esquire.

CANT HELP BEING FUNNY

Jimmie Evans' Musical Revue was presented by a company of 25 talented performers to a crowded house last evening. Jimmie's jokes and clever songs and novelties of the Revue standing. Jimmie came near to being outdone by a melancholy looking Ike, with a propensity for falling over backwards and a ready comeback for Jimmie's hardest hits.

He fitted just as well into the makeup of "Tony" with his Wop lingo and a song with a lot of "push" in it.

The funniest act of the two comedians was a burlesque, running a trolley car, with other members of the company as passengers. A trio by these two and a third man, singing from big, black-covered books, all about the signs of spring, made a big hit.

STRAND THEATRE

Marital mix-ups are often enough subjects for melodrama or tragedy, yet in "Don't Tell the Wife," showing today, the ludicrous side of the case has been presented, yet so human and tender, and laughable withal, that many a one who sees it may remember his or her own honeymoon days, and the good points of friend spouse, and decide that old wives, old books and even old wives, may possess more lasting qualities than untied vintages, best sellers and Dumb Doras however adorable.

Oh! Listen to the Diaphone

The widespread interest in and discussion of Rockland's newly installed diaphone has prompted the running of this column in The Courier-Gazette in the interest of public welfare. The Diaphone Editor will, in the limited time this column exists, welcome all communications relating to the whistle, its range, efficiency, failure or success. [E.]

O. Elmer Pinkham, city electrician and custodian of the fire alarm system, rises to the defense of his net in the matter of its rough treatment of Saturday afternoon's call from Box 43. It seems that the operating disc in the box had been melted some time ago by a short circuit with a power line. This didn't register in the bell system but was readily apparent in irregular blasts of the very delicate whistling mechanism. The difficulty has been remedied.

From South Warren comes word that, regardless of weather conditions, the curfew signal is easily heard each night. Maynard Marston is authority for the statement that a field of his at Ash Point is disturbed by the howling of a bull moose in that vicinity each night about 8.30. Mr. Marston distinctly heard the recent bell alarm while on outer Beechwood street, Thomaston.

On the other hand Bert Chase, a city employee and member of the fire department, failed to hear the Saturday call and a group of Ward 2 residents in conference near the Farnsworth building were apprised of the fire by the arrival of the apparatus.

Considerable surprise was manifested by the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Co. officials who made the installation over the fact that Rockland's curfew was on the quietness of the alarm. This was a brand new experience to them for the kids have always been because of its excessive loudness. The local installation is identical with "Waterville's" and somewhat more complete than that in Brewer.

A well known citizen chanced to be in the shop of Mrs. C. H. Merrifield the other noon and was observing a kitten at play in the adjacent field, almost under the big barn. As it moved its noon signal the surprised feline sprang high into the air and disappeared, a lightning flash of gray fur. Two small birds were hovering near the tower at the same time and at the conclusion of the blasts fluttered around dazedly, at times assuming the attitude characteristic of dead fish.

On a recent night when conditions were not very favorable a picked group listened from widely separated points. Bert Keep heard the signal distinctly at his Camden street home as did Master Weymouth at the City Farm and Frank Pratt from a point near the Atlantic Highway Garage. Reception in the southernmost points of the city were not so good and the angle of the horn has been changed to remedy that if possible.

It must be borne in mind that the sound waves from the big horn do not travel like ripples from a searchlight but rather as waves from a rock thrown into a pool or radio from a sending station.

Donald C. Leach heard a recent alarm from his home in West Rockport and the same number was counted at the Wayside Garage on St. George road.

The South Thomaston correspondent sends the following comment to the Diaphone Editor: Miss Hazel Stamp reports that the blarney of the newly installed diaphone in Rockland is heard so distinctly at her home that it is decidedly unpleasant and startling. Several advance the theory that the sound must follow the course of the brook which finds its way to the ocean there at Anderson's Creek.

The first alarm from the new box 43 came in last night at 9 o'clock for a small fire on Pine street. The diaphone spoke right out as the generous attendance testified, yet others, attending the more distant Park Theatre, heard it distinctly despite the fact that a musical comedy was in progress. How come?

From indications at the Chamber of Commerce office, the coming summer season will be a very good one, as on last Saturday the office answered five requests for information on summer cottages. The requests came from Georgia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and Massachusetts. So that the Chamber can be most effective in this work of locating people, those having cottages to rent should get in touch with the Chamber at once telling of their property that is to be rented.

PLEASURE --- COMFORT HAPPINESS--SATISFACTION

The modern motor car yields all of these when free from troubles. Most troubles may be avoided by proper lubrication.

Friction and wear cost many dollars each year.

Repairs are much more expensive than good lubricants.

Protect your motor car investment—use nothing but good oil and greases.

Insist on—

Supreme Auto Oil,
Gulf Transmission Lubricant,
Supreme Cup Grease,
Gulf High Pressure Grease, and secure more power and better mileage at lower expense.

Lubricants are one of the smallest items in the operating expense of a motor car. Yet their proper selection, application and use is of the utmost importance. Upon this depends the length of service and reliability of performance of the car and the cost of upkeep.

HAMLIN TO FIGHT

Scheduled To Meet George Banks In Perth Amboy Next Monday Night.

Knox County fight fans will be interested to know that Oliver Hamlin's first battle on the big circuit will take place in Perth Amboy, N. J., next Monday night, his opponent being George Banks. The bout is listed as a six-round semi-final. Banks has been in the game two years, and has never been licked. He weighs 148 pounds, and Hamlin is now weighing 150 pounds. In all of his previous battles Hamlin has fought men heavier than himself, and it will be a new experience to take on somebody of his own size, as the boys used to say.

Writing to the Sporting Editor of The Courier-Gazette Hamlin says: "Banks hasn't much of a defense, and fights slum-bang style, like myself. My manager thinks I can out-hit him. Of course my first fight will tell the story. If I make good I am O. K. for bigger fights. I have also got a fight in Passaic, N. J., the 28th. I will fight for all there is in me, as I have got to put Rockland on the fighting map."

Hamlin says that he is feeling fine, but that the hand he broke is bothering him some. His address is 249 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, N. Y., and it would be a good stunt if some of his Rockland friends would drop him a line of encouragement before next Monday night's fight.

"ON MY SET"

The perversity of the radio passeth understanding on some occasions. Twice last week I wanted to hear the broadcasting of the world's championship game between the Bruins of Boston and Senators of Ottawa. Thursday night I was able to get about half of the story in fair shape, but on Saturday night I could distinguish only enough of it to learn which way the battle was apparently going. WBZ was handling the broadcast, and the perversity of the radio, I refer, is seen in the fact that Friday night and Sunday night when there was no hockey on the program the station was coming in very strong.

As a matter of fact I have seldom seen WBZ any better than it was Sunday night. The Atwater Kent hour Sunday night was a delight to the listeners, and I found it came best through WGY.

A curious thing about Sunday night's program was its great volume and clearness between 9 and 10:30. After that about the only station which came in good on my set was WTAM. And it was good.

The doll "Miss Rockland," which won the contest last night, will be exhibited at Daniels' jewelry store.

The final rehearsal for the cantata "Immortality" to be given by the Universalist Quartet and augmented choir will be held Friday evening in the church vestry at 7:15. It is urged that there be a full attendance.

The Mission Circle of the Universalist Church will be held in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Susie Davis acting as leader. In addition to the regular program, the mite boxes will be opened.

A benefit dance for the new Rebekah Home will be given in the O. O. F. hall on School street tonight. Miriam Rebekah Lodge committees are being assisted by the management of the Friday night dances in putting the affair across.

An interesting chart showing the various processes in the manufacture of cement is on display at the Public Library. A new book "Line and Magnesia," by Knibbs, and several booklets and pamphlets are also available for those interested in the study of this new Rockland industry.

A youngster named Webster while playing with other kids on Gardner L. Wheeler's truck wagon yesterday, was pushed off, and one of the wheels passed over him. He suffered a cut and some bruises but was more scared than hurt. Neighbors administered first aid.

"The U. S. Flag," a march composed by Walter A. Clark of Thomaston, will be one of the features of the Orange Ball of the K. V. F. A. Wednesday evening in Spear's hall. Many requests have been made to have Mr. Clark play this piece which takes the form of a march-fort and the Veteran Firemen feel highly honored to be the first to feature the same.

Just as this paper went to press the telephone was blowing 85, the call for volunteers to fight a severe grass and brush fire up back of Chickawaukie pond. Many carloads of men have been despatched to the scene. Several houses are reported involved including the buildings of T. J. Foley. The Holmes farm is said to be in danger. Engine 1 and a skeleton crew has been held at Central Fire Station to protect against any local trouble.

On their rounds Sunday night Patrolmen Wellman, Stetson and Ingraham found evidence of a break at Herbert B. Barte's store on Main street. The would-be burglars made a hasty exit with the advent of the blue-coats, but were arrested an hour later at their roosting place, 3 Donohue place. They were brought into court yesterday—Shirley Friend, 16, of Rockland, and Arthur Seams, 18, of Camden. Both pleaded "guilty" and they were sentenced to six months in the Men's Reformatory at Schoharie. Since the war was pending, however, and they were put on probation—with the understanding that they keep away from pool rooms, go to work, and report every Saturday morning to Marshal Webster.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this method of thanking neighbors and friends for their kindness to me in my recent bereavement in the loss of my husband; also for flowers for funeral, and to those who furnished conveyance for funeral and especially to extend thanks to the Methodist Church for flowers.

ORCHARD CLUBS

Good Results Expected In Hope, Jefferson, Union.

To produce better apples will be the object of the three orchard clubs organized in the communities of Hope, Jefferson and Union. A. K. Gardner, orchard specialist of the Extension Service, and County Agent Wentworth met with the orchardists in these communities and made plans for the coming year on orchard management. Mr. Gardner discussed the necessity of about three standard varieties for Maine conditions. He also explained the correlation of fertilizing to pruning. As it has been found that with the use of nitrogenous fertilizers more certain results are necessary to guarantee a uniform crop year after year.

Thinning is something new to most of the orchardists in the county but is of great value to certain varieties and will be adopted by many. The following are the varieties that are growing: Red Delicious, McIntosh, and Golden Delicious. This work will be carried on in June under the direction of County Agent Wentworth.

In the club plan the Extension Service through the county agent will hold meetings and demonstrations. Information will also be furnished the orchardists of the club on spraying including: materials to use, amounts to use and time to apply. In return for this the men agree to apply a series of sprays, assist in fertilizing and pruning, and to furnish the orchardists with the necessary materials.

The following men have joined the club: Hope, Wallace Robbins, N. F. Barrett, E. N. Hobbs, M. B. Hobbs, F. M. Payson, R. E. Brown, E. A. Dunton, Jefferson, E. A. Hodgkins, S. A. Hall, O. B. Emery, Marshall Moody, Union, George H. Cameron, F. H. Lefebvre, E. A. Matthews, J. F. Caldwell.

There are a total of 6400 apple trees owned by the above named men. It is expected that this club will mean a great deal of first class fruit for the county.

READY IN OCTOBER

Engineer Says Trains Will Be Crossing Kennebec Bridge By That Time.

No more spans will be floated from the Tidal River to the Kennebec bridge until June. Riveting on span 2 has been completed and structural work on span 5 will be completed this week while work on span 6 will speedily follow. Span 2 was located next west of the channel span and span 5 will be next east of span 4 which has already been located.

Work has been resumed on pier 2 by The Foundation Co., while the caisson for pier 6 is ready to be launched at the yard west of the bridge. It is expected all pier work will be completed by another month.

Work is progressing very satisfactorily now on the substructure and superstructure of the big steel bridge and the resident engineer, K. A. Allen, still has the bridge in his hands. It is expected the bridge will be crossing on the lower level of the bridge by October and the upper level will be open to general travel before the end of the year.

GRAFTING METHODS

And This Has To Do With Apples Not Politics.

At the fruit show held this last fall in Rockland there was no question about the standing of the McIntosh, for that was the most popular apple on exhibition, says the Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau News. Of the 42 bushels that were ordered by business men of the town, 27 were McIntosh.

The time has come when only a better quality apple will sell. For this reason a series of grafting demonstrations will be held by the Extension Service in the country this spring. There are a number of young orchards of Ben Davis, Gano, Stark and other poor quality varieties that should be grafted over into a more profitable apple. It has also been found that a tree grafted will begin to bear in three or four years.

During the past three or four years

How far will your car go before the miles begin to tell?

If you buy a new car every 10,000 miles or so, almost any car will give you satisfactory results.

But if you want the same fine service on through the second, third and the many following tens of thousands of miles, buy a Buick!

Accurate tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, where all cars are driven and examined, show Buick's sturdy structure and powerful Valve-in-Head Engine still gaining in efficiency at the point in miles where other cars are distinctly on the down grade.

Buy a Buick for years of exceptional service.

LISTEN, TRAFFIC COPS!

Automobiles traveling at 150 miles an hour on the general highways within 25 years are foreseen by Major Segraves who last Tuesday drove his Mystery "32" car at a speed of 211 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Fla. Maj. Segraves said that engineers who perfected his car had the idea in mind that within a quarter of a century it will be in practical use. The secret of his car's success he said was in its six-foot blunt nose which covers the wheels and prevents the wind from hampering the speed of the car.

MATINICUS ROCK

Just a little world all its own pushed away out in the deep blue sea where winds blow furiously and seas dash high or a peaceful calm rests upon the waters and a cloudless sky brings perfect contentment to those dwelling thereon. May we call it a lucky little world homelike with its own heartaches and happiness showing to the inside world only a glimpse of the pleasures.

We raced up the familiar March hill quickly and never missed a step. There were the customary gatherings with a few specials.

Miss Pauline V. Deal returned to Rockland March 5 after a few weeks vacation here with her parents.

School was closed for two weeks' vacation and last Monday morning Miss Peabody with her students were joyously tripping back to the little schoolhouse, not painted red.

P. O. Hilt cordially entertained the crowd March 29. Supper was served and the evening spent in conversation interspersed by music on the radio.

How many can recall hearing "Everybody works at our house but my old man"? Nothing like that on here. It is everybody works, look where or when you will, and behold some one with paint ball and brush or bucket and mop or broom.

SUITS THE TASTE OF EACH... FILLS THE NEEDS OF ALL

A CAR FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Because it is so attractive, dependable, safe and easily operated, Oldsmobile is continually referred to as an ideal car for women.

Because it is so smart, so lively in performance, it delights the spirited generation of the teens.

Because it is so solidly comfortable and reliable, so thoroughly excellent, so thrifty in operation and so long of life, it represents both wise selection and sound investment for the man.

Father, mother, sister, brother—it suits the taste of each, fills the needs of all... and Oldsmobile Six has come into its own as the car for the American family.

will furnish the Materials?

That will determine, often, whether or not your new home will be a thing of worth and comfort or otherwise. All down the line, you'll find high-quality materials here, at right prices. For instance—SHEET ROCK—the fireproof wallboard. Best there is. Pure gypsum rock in broad, high sheets, between tough fibre paper. Permanent. Decorates perfectly. Never cracks, warps or buckles. Vermin-free. Time-tried.

THOMASTON

Henry McDonald returned from Boston Saturday. William Phillips is in New York for a few days. The Courier-Gazette correspondent had a very pleasant call upon Charles H. Lovejoy in his new home recently purchased of Mr. George Starrett. Mr. Lovejoy wishes his friends to know that he is happily located and contented in his new quarters. He is devoting his spare time to arranging his household goods but is always pleased to receive calls from his friends.

Miss Elizabeth Gilchrist has resumed her teaching at Lincoln, Maine.

George A. Braden of Franklin, Me., a student at the University of Maine, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gilchrist.

A. T. Gould and family will arrive Saturday and spend a few days in town.

The Boy Scouts took a tramp Saturday to Burnside's farm in Cushing.

Albert Pechon has sold his blacksmith shop to Mrs. Nancy Bushnell who will move it onto the premises.

Misses Dorothy Starrett and Edith Keller were overnight guests of the Killarney sisters in North Cushing Sunday.

Schools will close next Friday for the Easter vacation.

The Central Maine Power Co. has taken an option on the land belonging to Charles H. Lovejoy at the corner of the Meadow and New County road.

Quite a moving time is near in Thomaston, due to the sale by Alden Merrifield of his building on Main street. Charles Hamilton will move from Isle au Haut to the tenement in the building on Main street. Mr. Merrifield will move to his house on Beechwoods street now occupied by Raymond L. Wotton and John T. Nelson.

Work in changing the Lovejoy house at Mill River into a four-tenement house is going ahead rapidly. At the present rate of progress it should be ready for occupancy the middle of May.

Holy Week will be observed by the Thomaston churches with four evening services. Tuesday evening at the Congregational vestry, Wednesday evening at the Methodist, Thursday and Friday evenings at the Baptist at 7 o'clock.

The opening game of the local baseball season resulted disastrously for the home team, which was defeated 21 to 9 by St. George High School. Burns and Grafton, the only letter men remaining from last season were both out of the game on account of sickness. Feyer pitched and Spaulding caught. The lads from Tenants Harbor were delighted with their fine showing.

FREDERICK A. ROBINSON
The death of Frederick A. Robinson occurred Friday in Winchester, Mass., where he had his home for 27 years. Before his retirement from active life he had for some time conducted a grocery and provision business in Hudson where he was president of the board of trade, and active in the town in other ways.

Mr. Robinson was a native of Thomaston, and his father was the late Hon. Edward Robinson, a native of Cushing, and a former congressman. His mother was Mrs. Nancy (Fales) Robinson. Mrs. Robinson, his wife, died 17 years ago, and he has four surviving children are Prof. Edward Robinson of the University of Vermont at Burlington; Harold B. Robinson and Miss Alida L. and Miss Amy Robinson, all three living in Winchester.

Edward Robinson was a member of the 25th Congress being elected to fill a vacancy in the Maine delegation caused by the death of Jonathan Cilley who had been killed in a duel with Congressman Graves of Kentucky. Mr. Robinson was a member of the State Senate two terms. He was the elector on the Harrison-Tyler ticket in 1840, and the Whig candidate for governor in 1842, 1843 and 1844.

WARREN
Mrs. Alexander Burgess entered Knox Hospital, Rockland on Saturday for treatment. Friends are hoping for an early return to good health.

Mrs. Sarah Starrett, Mrs. Charles McKellar and Mrs. Thomas Simpson whose birthdays fall on April 7, 8, 9, respectively, celebrated by having a birthday party at the home of Mrs. Simpson Thursday. A fine dinner was served and the trio were the recipients of some very beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cates of Rockland were callers on Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Givens Sunday.

"The Cross" is the topic for the Wednesday mid-week service at the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. G. Simmons have bought a Paige sedan.

Misses Evelyn Sawyer and Mildred Lease are home from Gorham Normal School for the Easter recess.

ONLY TWO "VETS"

But Coach "Styvie" of Thomaston High School Still Smiles.

There have been various definitions of the word optimist, but most readers of this article will admit that the word especially applies to a baseball coach who has only two of last season's men on his team, and said team defeated 21 to 9 by St. George High School.

The coach in this instance is L. C. Sturtevant of Thomaston High School, who has piloted so many pennant winners that the new gymnasium is full of cups and flags. But last year's commencement was marked by an exodus of letter men, that all he has to build a ball team with this season is two veterans—Burns (captain) and Grafton.

The rest of his timber must be cut from the forest primeval. How good a job of hewing "Styvie" will be able to do remains to be seen.

The squad as now made up comprises: Pitchers, Burns, Feyer, Grafton and Simmons; catchers, Burns and Spaulding; first base, Larkin and Mayo; second base, Davis and Walker; third base, Grafton; shortstop, Feyer; and outfielders, Fales, Hunt, Knight, Libby, Stevens and K. Campbell.

Joel Miller is manager of the team this season and Roland Burns is captain. The schedule:

April 9—St. George at Thomaston.
April 23—Thomaston at Tenants Harbor.

April 30—Thomaston at Rockland.
May 7—Thomaston at Belfast.

May 11—Thomaston at Wiscasset.
May 14—Rockland at Thomaston.

May 21—Camden at Thomaston.
May 25—Wiscasset at Thomaston.

May 28—Thomaston at Vinalhaven.
June 1—Belfast at Thomaston.

June 4—Vinalhaven at Thomaston.
June 11—Thomaston at Camden.

June 15—Lincoln Academy at Thomaston.

CAMDEN
Alphonse S. Prince is on a business trip to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton R. McCobb have returned from a week's visit in Boston.

Osburne A. Barbour, a former resident of Camden, died Sunday evening at his home in Jamaica Plain, Mass., after a few weeks' illness.

Mr. Barbour was for many years a traveling salesman and had an extensive acquaintance throughout New England. He belonged to Amity Lodge, P. & A. M., No. 6, of Camden, and the Masonic service will be performed at the funeral at the Methodist Church Thursday afternoon.

He also belonged to Key-stone Chapter, Camden Commandery, K. T., King Hiram Council, Rockland, and Kora Temple, Mystic Shrine, Lewiston. He is survived by his widow, one son Howard, and a sister, Mrs. Edith Tein of Camden.

The annual inspection of Camden Commandery will be held Thursday evening with George P. Giddings of Augusta, Eminent Grand Generalissimo, the visiting officer. A banquet will be served at 6.30.

TENANTS HARBOR
The High School baseball team is all set and primed for the season. The team is coached by Mr. Ernest Rawley, the former Hebron star who has moulded together a strong aggregation. If ambition wins games the team will be in the running. The regular line-up for the Thomaston game will be: Lowell, 2b, Archer, c, Feyer, ss, Simpson, 3b, Ernest, 1b, Smith, p, S. Archer, lf, Chadwick, rf, Hupper, p.

Ray Meserve is papering at the boarding house for the St. George Granite Co.

Frank Pierson has arrived at Portland for the season. He motored through from Connecticut.

Clarence Thompson made six trips from this place to Rockland Friday with his auto. He has built up a very dependable public car service. He is working for him in his garage Jean Pierson of Massachusetts doing repair work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pullen went to Rockland Friday where Mr. Pullen was enroute for Northeast Harbor. Mrs. Pullen returned the following day.

Lincoln Monaghan was a weekend guest of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smalley are in Thomaston while Mr. Smalley attends court. They are guests of Mrs. Smalley's mother, Mrs. Jameson on Knox street.

Mrs. Herbert Hocking is teaching school at Port Clyde.

Sevell Wagie, the local baker, has all he can do turning out bread, cakes, pies, cookies and doughnuts.

Ray Kittredge is having large crowds attend his movies.

Fred Watts has bought a new tractor to use in his saw mill.

Mrs. Adela Wall is improved in health and able to be out.

The Polyanna and Golden Rule classes of the Sunday School held a joint meeting at the parsonage last Tuesday evening to work on Easter decorations and costumes for the concert.

All those who are interested in raising funds for the development of the athletic field are requested to make candy which will be on sale next Wednesday evening when the "Mother Mine" will be presented in the I. O. O. F. hall. If not convenient to get to the hall, please leave it with Mrs. Harriet Wheeler, who has charge of the candy table.

Levi Hathorn had the misfortune to break his leg just above the ankle last week while working at the Wildcat quarry. He is resting comfortably with it, but will be laid up several weeks.

J. Frank McNeill of Thomaston has rented the Lizzie Pierson cottage up in Sherer's field again this summer.

Mr. Henderson of Vinalhaven is a boarder at Gilbert Auld's while he has employment at the wildcat quarry.

James Carney has moved from John Morris' tenement over the dance hall, into Frank Morris' house opposite the cemetery.

ROCKPORT

THE HOUSE LAST NIGHT QUICKLY

simplified the water power question before the Maine Legislature and when it had finished its work, only the

Smith-Wyman bill for power export remained for consideration. That measure will come up for final passage Friday morning, with the prospect that it will go through by a small margin.

The bill was defeated by one vote on the question of passage Monday afternoon, but after Representative

Hale of Portland had shifted his vote to the negative in order that he might vote on reconsideration of the action, the motion for reconsideration prevailed by a vote of 68 to 47,

the same by which the bill was beaten.

A motion to table the bill was then carried 58 to 35.

Last night the House indefinitely postponed the two Carter bills, one calling for an amendment to the charter of the power companies and the other divorcing generating from transmission companies; the Carter power compact bill and the Morrill order calling for a survey of Maine's water power resources.

In the House Friday an act abolishing the State Prison Commission and creating a commission of five to have charge of the affairs of the State prison and the reformatory for men and women, was passed to be engrossed, after the House had defeated an amendment placing the management of the State prison under the Governor and Council, and had refused reference of the matter to next Legislature. Adverse report on the bill had been accepted by the Senate.

The majority report, "ought to pass in new draft" was accepted from Prison committee on resolve to reimburse prison employees for the time lost while under suspension during October and November, 1925. The new draft appropriates $1,441.64 for these employees, to be paid by the Governor and Council.

A majority of the committee on Taxation reported "ought to pass" in a new draft on the Piper bill providing uniform taxation for motor vehicles. The minority report "ought not to pass" was signed by three members. The new draft fixes the rate at 25 mills on each dollar of the maker's list price for the first year,

18 mills for the second year, 14 for the third, 10 for the fourth, 6 for the fifth, and 4 for the sixth year, while under the original bill it was 25 mills for the first year, 21 for the second, 16 for the third, 11 for the fourth, 7 for the fifth, and 4 for the sixth year. The new draft also provides exemption in the case of bona fide dealers, cars owned by telephone, telegraph, express and railroad companies paying an excess tax except that motor busses for the transportation of passengers for hire owned by railroad companies are to pay a tax.

The reports were tabled pending printing of the new draft.

An act providing for a rural school year of 32 weeks died between the House and the Senate, when the body adhered to its vote by which the measure was passed to be engrossed, the House having defeated it.

The bill increasing fees of jurors from $4 to $5 per day, was returned to the lower House, carrying with it the passage to be engrossed, action of the Senate, in nonconcurrence with the House, which had indefinitely postponed it.

An act increasing the license fee of portable sawmill owners was indefinitely postponed.

The committee on Ways and Bridges and Taxation reported

"ought not to pass" on the Rawley

bill which remits all of the gasoline tax to motorboat owners and owners of tractors used for agricultural purposes and give a six months' period instead of 90 days for collecting rebates under the act.

SOCIETY

In addition to personal notes regarding departures and arrivals, this department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicals, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

The Business and Professional Women's Club announces that Miss Anna Coughlin will give readings from her recent book of poetry, "Knots of Straw," at the club rooms on Monday evening, April 25. The program will also include musical numbers and promises to be of very real interest to its Rockland audience. A limited number of tickets will be available for non-members.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Halligan, Jr., who have been spending a honeymoon trip in Portland, Boston and New Hampshire, have returned home. They have newly furnished apartments at 192 Limerock street which will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Mrs. Carl S. Reed and Miss Elizabeth Reed spent the weekend in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shute and daughter Maxine have been guests of Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Curtis.

Miss Elizabeth Hagar is at the Gale Hospital, in Camden, for removal of her tonsils. The remainder of her Easter vacation will be spent with her parents in this city.

The housekeepers for tomorrow evening's supper at the Universalist Church are Mrs. Susie Davis, Mrs. Mabel Sherman, Mrs. Nina Beverage, Mrs. Cora Kittredge, Mrs. McIntire, Mrs. Augusta Tibbitts, Mrs. Lizzie Haines, Mrs. Elizabeth Thayer, Mrs. McMillan, Miss Lucy Rhodes and Miss Edna Payson. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Peterson and Miss Lucy Rankin are in Boston for a few days.

Friends are extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Young of Southboro, Mass., formerly of Matineus, Me., over the advent of a little daughter, which occurred April 4. The little one has been named Ruth Fairbanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Simpson, who have been occupying Mrs. Nellie Bird's house on North Main street during the winter, have returned to North Haven.

Mrs. J. E. Ripley and Mrs. A. T. Philbrook are spending the week in Portland, guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Tolman.

The last meeting of the 1926-27 season of the Rubinstein Club Friday afternoon at the B. P. W. Club rooms, saw a large attendance. The subject was "Old Time Favorites" with Mrs. Maryon Benner as chairman and the program under her direction was of keen interest and pleasure:

G. A. R. HALL REPAIR FUND

The first to respond to the appeal of the president of the Civil War Memorial Association for funds to paint and repair G. A. R. hall, was Lady Knox Chapter, G. A. R., with a donation of $10 for that purpose. This week Mrs. Ava Lawry offers to paint one side and end of the building, furnishing both paint and labor—truly a splendid offer. A widow of the Civil War pledges $20 and possibly more. This gives the work an encouraging start and President Mary B. Cooper feels sure that others will volunteer to help in like manner. It requires paint, paper, linoleum for kitchen, labor, rugs, curtains and other fittings to make this home of the old Grand Army attractive and pleasant. This should be a work of pride and love. It is hoped that like those who have already come forward it will be done voluntarily. The volunteers come first. Don't wait to be drafted.

Miss Hazel Kellar motored to Bath and vicinity Sunday inspecting the new bridge and surrounding territory.

THE FIRE BRIGADE

SYNOPSIS: Fire fighting was in the O'Neil blood. Mrs. O'Neil lost her husband and then her oldest son in the service. Terry, the youngest, was a recruit under his grandfather, who had the only horse-drawn outfit in the city. James Corwin, a political power, took graft from Building Contractor Wainwright. His daughter, Helen, met Terry at the fire department's exhibition. Later, at the horse farm, the young people confessed their love for each other, but decided to keep it from her father.

INSTALLMENT THREE

As soon as opportunity would permit, Helen and Terry slipped out into the garden. There, in one of the pergolas, Terry kissed Helen for the first time.

Not having taken his daughter's interest in the young fire fighter seriously, Corwin was enraged to discover the lovers in an embrace. He denounced Terry for daring to address an heiress and forbade Helen to have anything to do with Terry.

Anxious to see Terry, Helen invited the young fireman to a charity bazaar at her home. It was given for the benefit of the Reid Orphanage, a Wainwright building, sponsored by Helen's father.

Terry, saddened and embittered, told his mother that night of his hopeless love for Helen. He had hardly finished his story when they heard a knock.

The messenger told them that Joe and other brave firemen had been seriously injured when an alarm was answered by Station 39. Remembering the death of his other brother and father, Terry was terrified.

Breathing prayers, Terry and his mother hurried to the hospital where the wounded boy lay. They reached his side just ahead of death. Another O'Neil had been sacrificed on the altar of service.

THURSDAY. Helen's father orders Terry again from his house. But Corwin's position and honesty are threatened. What will happen next?

REVIEWS WORLD TOUR

Harry A. Daniels Interviewed By a Courier-Gazette Reporter Tells of Strange Sights in Far Corners of This Mundane Sphere.

Harry A. Daniels, a retired New York newspaper man who elects to hang his hat in Rockland, Maine, when not a victim of wanderlust, is back home again after a little jaunt in the course of which he traveled 26,000 miles in a period of four months. Incidentally he circumnavigated the globe.

His travels took him through some of the channels that thousands of American tourists take, and concerning which volumes have been written, but for the most part he found infinitely more satisfaction in penetrating to the far corners of the earth, where the people and the customs differ from those which the average American traveler encounters, and where the sound of the English language has a strange ring.

He traveled perilously close to the war-torn paths in China and read in the almond eyes of the natives that look of undying hatred and suspicion with which these disciples of the Orient are today viewing the people of other nationalities. In Shanghai he saw 14 miles of foreign warships riding at their moorings, and heard enough to convince him that the American residents of that city have not been unwarned, and that those who tarried in the beleaguered city knew that they were inviting the risk of not being permitted to leave it alive.

He visited the four large cities of Japan, but was given no hint of hostility to Americans. In fact he felt that the attitude of Japan toward this country was more friendly than that which he experienced in France.

Because Mr. Daniels has so much to tell there is only time to say that he went to the West Coast via Cuba, Central America, the Panama Canal, then the long jump from San Francisco to Kobe, Japan, with a brief tarry at Honolulu to lighten the monotony of the sea voyage. The passage from Honolulu to Kobe occupied 16 days and the ship ran into so many storms that the decks were often awash.

All Japan was talking about the death of the Emperor. The funeral with its remarkable display of solemn grandeur was yet to come. Business went on as before, but everybody was discussing the approaching event.

"The mode of living has not changed for centuries in Japan," said Mr. Daniels to The Courier-Gazette reporter, "and it seems doubly strange to me, because of the great progress the nation has made in shipbuilding and the arts. The people still wear wooden shoes which give forth a strange echo as they click along the streets.

"Their houses are heated by little charcoal stoves in the center of the rooms. There are supposed to be modern American hotels in Japan, but they're so cold. Charcoal fires burn in the lobbies, and the piece of charcoal is no larger than a good sized watermelon. There were six inches of snow on the ground when we arrived and this did not add to our comfort.

"In the 'foreign section' you will find brick and concrete buildings, and paved streets, but it is only a little section at best. In the native sections the earthquakes cause much loss of life because the thatched roofs fall in on the charcoal fires and brick business in the sale of their beautiful silks. Cantonese (Canton) Spanish shawls (made in Canton) and countless other articles displayed to tempt the tourists' fancy. Away from the shopping district you encountered a different brand of Chinese, and the ugly looks they gave were abundant warning not to stray too far.

"Hong Kong has a nice modern English hotel. What attracted my attention most were the Sikhs, who acted as British police in Hong Kong. Very tall and magnificent in their uniforms, they were known to be absolutely fearless, and every Chinaman respected the ferocious clubs with which they were armed in lieu of shooting irons.

Manila was a terrible disappointment to me. Among all shipping men it is known as the hottest place in the Orient or the South Seas, and it ran true to form when I was there. The narrow, dirty streets, the intense heat and the fresh, cocky air of the Filipino made Manila a joke alongside of Hong Kong, which we had just quit. I was enough to convince me that the Filipinos are not ready for independence, and would not know what to do with it if they had it. The Spanish used to tell that the Filipinos had tails. I don't know as to the truth of that, but most of them appear to be a very low order of human being."

And Mr. Daniels exhibited some snap shots which he had made, and which seemed to further his theory. "They are no more fit to hold office, or to be independent, than a bunch of Hotentots" was his disgusted conclusion.

Mr. Daniels had heard a great deal about Chinese superstition, and he saw a demonstration of it in Manila, where a Chinaman with a big bunch of lighted firecrackers was chasing the devil and the hoodoo out of his shop.

"All right, I'll help out his theory," said Mr. Daniels, and he left his car, went into the shop and bought a set of ivory dominoes. The Chinaman's theory was substantiated.

"The Chinaman shoots off firecrackers at a funeral so that bad spirits won't enter the body of the deceased," said Mr. Daniels. "Ask him why he does it, and he will ask you why you won't sit at a table, or open an umbrella indoors or why you think the breaking of a mirror means seven years of hard luck. We think he is crazy; he thinks we're viewpoint."

"The Chinaman shakes hands with himself when he meets you, because as he puts it, he is pleased and honored to meet you. But when the American shakes the Chinaman's hand it looks to the Chinaman as if the American were saying: 'You are fortunate to meet me.'"

"I visited Singapore to view the rubber plantations. The production is enormous. Our ship took on $350,000 worth in 24 hours, and our ships were then waiting for a chance to load. The laborers are women and they earn 20 cents a piece each day, or perhaps 10 cents if given board and lodging.

"In Singapore you find multitudes of people and multitudes of religions. Every costume imaginable is seen on the streets and the effect is colorful beyond words. There are two semi-modern hotels, which, however, lacked running water or toilet facilities.

"At Penang on the west coast of the Malay Peninsula the ship's cargo was enriched by more rubber and 700 tons of the finest tin in the world, but the combined efforts of the stevedores failed to load the tin. Tourists believe that there was something in the town really worth seeing.

"Ceylon, according to an ancient superstition, is only 40 miles from Heaven and the garden spot of the world. They will show you the big rock on which Adam stood, and the alleged imprints of his feet. In Ceylon Adam is confounded with Buddha.

"Be that as it may, all tourists stop off at Ceylon, where the famous tea is grown and where the English houses are the most beautiful. Each might have a track in his own yard. And in the center they built a golf course and nearly a cricket field. In effect a three-ringed circus.

"An unusual thing I saw was thousands of tame crows. Every native seems to have one and they can be as artistically as some natives.

"The natives are farsighted. They can spot a tourist farther than any other place we visited. The tourist is soaked at every turn. A small glass of native beer is 50 cents, a poor meal is $3, and gasoline is 60 cents a gallon—all gold.

"Sumatra belongs to the Dutch and even in these modern days of self-exploitation they are saying nothing about it being the best hunting ground in the world for big game. I saw a Sumatra python 32 feet long and as large around as a stovepipe. A Sumatra tiger would have been no match for him.

"What a change from China and India I found in the island of Java. Cleanliness reigned where before there had been a preponderance of filth, disease and beggars. The hotels were marked by modern conveniences and were scrupulously clean. Java boys make the best servants in the world. The water is pure and the Dutch food and cooking are excellent. A Java woman will bathe three times a day. The Dutch internment with them and the children are really handsome.

"Many around the world travelers think Japan is the most interesting country to visit, but I found more that was novel in Cairo, with Singapore as my second choice. The art of ancient Egypt, as shown in the carvings and inlaid gold work on the articles removed from King Tut's Tomb surpasses all imagination. The beds, the chair, the casket, the furniture, the carvings, the death mask are all magnificent specimens of an art that existed 5000 years ago."

Mr. Daniels puts in a word for Mussolini. "He is doing wonderful things and has put his country on its feet as nobody else has been able to do."

Mr. Daniels experienced four winters and three summers on his world tour.

"Was it worth while?" he was asked.

A sigh of contentment was his expressive answer.

I do my own wash

—yet my hands stay soft, white

I USED to hate Monday, for my week's wash was always very heavy. But washday is now so easy for me.

I just use Rinso. It's great in our water—makes wonderfully thick, lasting suds.

I soak the whole wash in these suds for about two hours—then rinse. The dirt soaks right out and everything becomes spotless without a bit of hard rubbing. And oh, so much whiter than ever before. Sterilized, too!

And with Rinso my hands never get red and parboiled any more. They stay white and soft.

Why not try Rinso next washday? You'll see why the makers of 30 leading washers endorse it.

"RED" PROPAGANDA

Everything Possible Must Be Done To Offset It, D. A. R. Is Told.

The "red" propaganda in this country was described as "subtle, insidious and persistent," by Mrs. Catherine Kittredge of Vermont, in an address Thursday at the 29th annual conference of the Maine Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Kittredge urged the members to do everything possible to offset this bolshevistic propaganda, which she declared "is a challenge to the Daughters of the American Revolution whose forefathers fought and died for the sake of America."

Mrs. Blaine S. Viles of Augusta, the State regent, reported that through the efforts of the Maine organization more than $10,000 has been raised toward the building of a new home for the Continental Congress.

Mrs. William S. Shaw was nominated for State regent. Other State officers nominated were: Mrs. Victor L. Warren of Dover-Foxcroft, vice regent; Mrs. A. M. Penley of Auburn, recording secretary; Mrs. Benjamin T. Larrabee of Portland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles T. Barnes, Houlton, historian; Mrs. Ethel T. Tate, Ellsworth, registrar; Mrs. Avis Jones of Gardiner, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, Rockland, auditor; Mrs. Lena P. Stevens, Bangor, librarian; and Mrs. Minnie E. Davis, Sanford, chaplain.

Have you noticed the attention that has been given this year to religious or, perhaps more correctly named, inspirational books? Follow the monthly reports of the 10 best selling non-fiction books each issue of the Bookman. Every month these inspirational books are conspicuous in this list. In the March score they monopolize the first five places. In the order of their popularity they are: Story of Philosophy, by Will Durant; Why We Behave Like Human Beings, by G. A. Dorsey; The Book Nobody Knows; The Man Nobody Knows, both by Bruce Barton; This Believing World, by Lewis Browne. This list is compiled by F. P. Stockbridge and is based upon statistics submitted by public libraries and book stores throughout the United States. From authoritative sources one learns that in every part of the country there is an unprecedented demand for religious books, and that the significant part of it is that though ministers continue with their vast amount of reading the increased demand may be definitely traced to the laymen.

If one may judge from local conditions the secret for this new demand surely lies in the fact that now, as never before, religious books are readable. With human interest, presented in a manner that appeals to the average reader, characterizes the largest part of the books being so generally read and discussed today.

This growing interest in books of this type has been most noticeable in this library for the past three years. It is interesting indeed to find that this local interest is but a mirror of the nation wide interest along the same lines.

Besides the five books listed in the Bookman's Monthly score, this library offers two reading courses of national repute. The first, "The Life of Christ," has been selected by Rufus Jones and the following books included in this course have met with favorable reception among local readers. They are:

"The Jesus of History," by T. R. Glover.

"The An Unknown Disciple," (anonymous).

"The Life and Teachings of Jesus," by E. L. Bosworth.

"The Life of Jesus of Nazareth," by R. H. C. Brown.

"The Jesus of Nazareth," by G. A. Barton.

"A Small Town Man," by Mary Austin.

The second course is called "Religion in Everyday Life" and has been compiled by Wm. F. T. Grenfell. Books selected by Mr. Grenfell include:

"Modern Use of the Bible," by H. E. Fosdick.

"Human Nature in the Bible," by W. L. Phelps.

"Religious Perplexities," by L. P. Jacks.

"Personal Religion and a Life of Devotion," by W. B. Inge.

"More Twice Born Men," by Harold Begbie.

To these lists the librarian recommends the following books, all of which are stimulating, interesting and written in a style that appeals to the average reader.

"Christ of the Indian Road," by E. S. Jones, a remarkable little book which gives new insight into the real service of missions—not a service of bringing western civilization to the East but of introducing a new vision of a Christ who knows no nationality.

"The Apostle Paul and the Modern World," by P. G. Peabody.

"An American Spiritual Vagabond," by Thomas A. Masson.

"Stranger Than Fiction," by Lewis Browne.

Conspicuous in Jordan Marsh's windows last week was a copy of the book whose price, $20.00, is causing so much comment in the world of book dealers. The book is available in cheaper editions fortunately and has already been ordered for this library.

From the Publishers Weekly one learns that the Bookman, devoted for years to discussion of current literature has been sold and, beginning with the September issue will be a magazine dealing with general ideas rather than only book discussion.

Helen Hull's newest book "The Islanders" is being prepared for general circulation as the notes are being written. It is a story of pioneer America and has been highly praised by reviewers. The author will be remembered by many as the author of "Labyrinth" and of many short stories.

Garden books are much in demand at the library these days. Why not consult some of them before you start that much dreamt-of garden? Spring also brings new demands for the library's books on interior decorations. New files of Country Life, Antiques, and House Beautiful have just been received from the bindery. They are full of timely suggestions and are not too heavy in their present binding for home use.

The days of drab corn color bindings for worn outlooks are past. One feels as though they were dealing with books in some private library as they handle the rebound covers of older fiction which have just returned from the bindery. Ornate backs and fancy book cloths in gay colors are the latest word in the world of rebounding. And best of all, the cost is no greater.

ROCK-RIBBED MAINE

Rockland Lime Kilns Figure In Movie Which Is Widely Shown.

The moving picture titled "Rock Ribbed Maine" which was made last summer in connection with the publicity and development work of the State of Maine has already been shown in theatres in Boston and Maine and brought forth most favorable comment from all who have viewed it.

The picture was made by the Fox Varieties Department of New York City and is now being released through its exchanges, not only in the United States, but also in all foreign countries through the Fox Exchanges maintained abroad.

This is but one phase of the work being done by Maine, which not only advertises her own wares but also calls attention to all of New England, following the aims of the New England Council in letting others know what New England has to offer for prosperous development and investment along agricultural, industrial and recreational lines.

The picture takes one in a pleasing way throughout the State of Maine in the form of a travelogue. It is so titled that it takes one from New York and leads them on a sight-seeing trip closing with the visitors back in their New York office still dreaming of what they saw.

The picture takes in a trip along the coast and then into every section of the State. It shows Maine's Lafayette National Park on Mt. Desert Island, her lime quarries at Rockland, and her sardine industry at Eastport and Lubec. Other scenes are the potato industry in Arrostook, the Rangely region with Herbert Welch, the world's champion fly casting, the pool with success for salmon and trout, the Moosehead region, the famous Allagash trip, wild game, Mt. Katahdin and so on through the State.

It fields the recreational delights of the State with her agricultural, industrial and historical attractions and possibilities.

This phase of Maine's development program goes hand in hand with the State booklets and State advertising in the metropolitan newspapers and magazines which are handled through the State of Maine Publicity Bureau of Portland which acts as the service organization.

The picture also was shown at the conference held in Boston at the Hotel Statler by the committee on Recreational Resources of the New England Council, at which all phases in the development of New England's recreational resources were gone into.

MAY SEIZE AND LIBEL

The United States government may seize and libel foreign vessels laden with liquor and cargoes if found within three miles of the shore even though no proof exists that part of the cargo has been sold for American consumption. Judge Hand held Tuesday in United States district court.

The decision was given in the case of the British vessel Mistigette. Counsel for the owners, who were not named, claimed the ship and cargo should be freed, as they had been "bound from one foreign port to another" and were not legally subject to seizure.

Assistant District Attorney Williams, who presented the case for the government, said he believed it the first time such a ruling had been given by a United States court.

PHASES OF THE SEA

Captain Cottle Discusses Its Power and Other Notable Peculiarities.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

In your issue of Feb. 24 you speak of "The Storm" and you refer to the tragedy of April 1851, when Minot's Light was torn from its foundation and destroyed. That was not, as is the present lighthouse, a granite structure, but a frame-work of iron.

In the Marine Museum of the old State House, Boston, you will see a picture of the 1851 lighthouse framed with a piece of window-sash which was washed ashore with the wreck.

They that go down to the sea in ships that do business in great waters;

These see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.

For he commandeth and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof.

They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths;

They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end.

He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.

Then they are glad because they be quiet; so he bringeth them unto their desired haven.

As the Psalms were written about 1000 B. C. and the largest body of water anywhere near Palestine is the Mediterranean or Great Sea, how the writer came to be so well versed in the ways of the sea is a question.

The Sea of Galilee is only 12½ by 8 miles, not much of a body of water, and its surface is 682 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, but it is subject to violent storms.

The Dead Sea (or Salt) Sea, formed by the waters of the Jordan, is 40 miles long, 10 miles broad, and in some places 1300 feet deep. Its surface is 1200 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, so its bed is 2600 feet lower than its level, or just as far below the Mediterranean as Jerusalem is above it. Having no outlet, owing to the great heat the water evaporates rapidly, and is very salt, containing more than one part in four of various salts. Pitch is still found floating on its surface. In fact the Latins call it the Asphalt Lake. Capt. Isaac Cottle, Bowdoin Glee Club, Universalist Church, April 22—adv. 36-48

Such Flavor

as this comes only in real Quaker Oats

THE price you pay for substitutes is the same as for the genuine Quaker Oats. The difference is in the flavor. And flavor, above all things, is important in oats.

That rich and tasty Quaker flavor is the result of some 50 years' milling experience. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats.

That is why millions demand the Quaker brand—why you should accept no other.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Protein, carbohydrates, and vitamins and "bulk" are thus combined to make Quaker Oats an excellently "balanced" food.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.
